Competency-Based Training & Assessment Process

Competency-based training (CBT) is an approach to vocational education and training that places emphasis on what a person can do in the workplace as a result of completing a training program. The aim of competency-based training is to ensure that vocational education and training programs better meet the needs of Australia's industries and enterprises.

Outcomes from competency-based training reflect workplace duties, working environment and performance requirements. This should include performing higher level duties such as planning, problem solving and managing tasks through to completion.

Competency-based training programs are comprised of Units of Competency that contain specific learning outcomes, which are based on standards set by industry. Delivery of training occurs in a face-to-face classroom session and workplace learning may apply to ensure an overall understanding of all skills and knowledge is available.

Assessment is the process of collecting evidence and making judgments on whether competency has been achieved. The purpose of assessment is to confirm that an individual can perform the standard expected in the workplace, as expressed in the relevant endorsed industry or enterprise competency standards. Assessments through this course will require students to complete a variety of written work, oral questions, practical demonstrations, and assignment / portfolio presentations.
